EVERY FIELD TOWARD PROGRESS

Progress is the magic that improves the things about us;
And progress is the whirlwind force that moves with or without us.
Without it we would have no school, but only empty land.
Without it there would be no tool to benefit the hand.
But progress is not enough if it must stand alone,
As a diamond in the rough resembles any other stone.
But when the gem is polished and the brilliance let shine through,
Its conformity is abolished. And this is what we do
When students we uncover and their high school lives review.
Their identities we discover form patterns bright and gay,
Everchanging from year to year in a Kaleidoscopic way.
But yet, those patterns always veer closer to perfection.
So long in our hearts let us hear one last recollection:
Since God helps those who help themselves and forgets those who regress,
Into barren media we must delve and turn every field toward progress.

Patricia Shaw

DEDICATION

MR. STUART L. MOREFIELD

The senior class respectfully dedicates this yearbook to Stuart L. Morefield.

Gapping our high school days are a multitude of emotions: the ecstasy and sweet fruits of victory,

The thrill provided by our first united victory coursed through the blood of us all, but the excitement was depicted particularly by the actions and expressions portrayed by our cheerleaders.

a rapture

Left: The library is a point of great esteem for our new high school. Our new librarian, Miss Sara Holden, explains to a senior English class the use of a card catalog. Right Top: The covered entrance to the north of the building serves as an entrance to the school from the student parking lot as well as protection from the weather for students taking the bus. Bottom Right: Underclassmen relax by romping on the trampoline in the auxiliary gym. New athletic facilities are a source of deep pride to our student body.

in the pride that we feel for our new school,

An added spectacle this year was the twirling of fire by some of our majorettes, and Melva Ingram aptly displays her talent here with a sense of enjoyment and vigor.

Our new library lacked books, but had the willing support of our Key Club members who helped Miss Holden place encylopedias on the new shelves.

Top: Several "Blue Devils" walk across the floor of our new gymnasium after a tiring practice session. Bottom: One of the nicest things about the new Hopewell High School is its expanded facilities in the language department. Here a class listens attentively to lab tapes.

Top: The students found our new lunch room a pleasure to eat in this year. Bottom: Miss Taylor's advanced art class exhibits some of its latest works of art on a green behind the school.

Margo Wright and Jimmy Fore enjoy themselves dancing to the beat of the "Premiers" who played for the Sophomore Dance last spring.

The Class of 1968 gathers to form a friendship circle for a fond Mater.

While pausing to make last minute preparations for the annual beauty contest, Miss Pat Shaw is beautifully framed by the mirror in which she is gazing.

With a broad smile Miss Donna Gleason is crowned the 1968 Homecoming Queen by Miss Faye Alderson.

A student pensively views the seal that stands for all our past accomplishments and those of the future.

It was once said that the mediocre teacher tells, the good teacher explains, the superior teacher demonstrates, the great teacher inspires. Although this maxim is accurately portrayed at Hopewell High School, in each department are found revolutionary advancements. Simply by strolling down a corridor, the simultaneous click of a hundred new electric typewriters or the busy whir of our lately installed computer may be heard. A glance into the library, the choir room, or the science lab is convincing proof that progress sets the pace in our new school.

Progress is continuously being made in the field of science. To keep up with the tremendous pace, we need the best background we can obtain from the basic courses taught at H.H.S. Each science class has easy access to classroom, a supplyroom, and a laboratory. The school has put much money into desperately needed lab equipment so that its many science students can see their subject come alive.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT

The Language Department has the responsibility of increasing communication between the peoples of the world. This is vital in striving for world peace. The new language lab, with its earphones and interesting tapes, provides us with the means of improving each student's progress individually. This also increases the teacher's incentive to aid her students separately.

GIRLS' PHYSICAL EDUCATION DEPARTMENT

It was once said that a man can have every earthly pleasure, but if he does not have his health he has nothing. The physical education classes afford a chance for students to take a break from their schoolwork while learning to enjoy certain sports and games. They also learn a proper, healthy outlook on life as well as how to care for their bodies. In the new auxiliary gymnasium the girls learn such intricate skills as walking on balance beams and jumping on mini-trampolines. The girls got a new locker room with separate baskets and showers for each student this year.

Industrial Cooperative Training is a program involving work in the class and also on-the-job. It is an excellent opportunity to train students in the profession of their choice. Our school has a good I.C.T. program, and a large percentage of our students that take the program continue in their chosen fields after graduation.

When four classes entered their newly constructed high school last fall, they discovered a spontaneous wave of school spirit. This surge of enthusiasm grew rapidly as the classes established an interdependence necessary to the proper functioning of a student body. Pride in our school grounds has initiated an overall endeavor to maintain their meritable condition and to promote an attempt to beautify them even more. Each step we take is another goal accomplished on our road to progress, and during this year we have advanced another giant step in our march.

Support of our diverse teams has united the student body more than other facets of our school life. Who could soon forget that first chilly football game when autumn's scent clung heavily to the crowd or the sensation experienced upon the thrill of entering our beautiful gymnasium? Each individual felt respect and admiration for the struggles and efforts of our players, who gave willingly of themselves to form successful teams. Unsuppressed was school spirit, for either mentally or physically, we all participated.

Fall Sports

This time the other team does not seem to be gaining much yardage because our boys are on their toes.

Tommy Drumwright (22) gets in there to make the tackle with the help of Brent Birchett (71).

Vance Johnson (12), shaking off the opposition, runs to make a touchdown while Eddie Miles (84) looks on.

Our boys are putting up a great struggle, but this time the adversary is too much for the Mighty Blue.

Participation is the key to both progress and organizations. Striving to improve our school has been the chief aspiration of the clubs this year. Captivating bulletin boards greet us many times during the day, and intermittent trash cans in the courtyard help to remind us to keep the grounds as clean as possible. The very essence of our school life results from the vitality that is generated by organizations. Almost daily we can see the personality of the school awaken and grow harmoniously with its membership.

These students explore their own interest and abilities in relation to the various fields of teaching and strive to cultivate in themselves the qualities of personality, character, and leadership which are essential in good teachers. One money-making project for the annual scholarship to be given to an outstanding senior member of the club for furthering a career in education was the sale of decorative waste-paper baskets.

The girls exhibit their skills through activities such as designing window displays, presenting their creations in an annual fashion show, and preparing and serving refreshments after the National Honor Society's initiation of new members. Their willingness to make school life more pleasant is appreciated by all.

PRESS CLUB

Front: Carol Flaherty, Betty Edwards, Jo Ann Harris. Center: Debbie Lapeyre, Ruth Malamis. Back: Judy Barbee.

Organized just last year, the Press Club is an organization for students who are interested in journalism and the thrill of "seeing their work in print". A high school page published weekly in the local newspaper, The Hopewell News, serves the club's dual purpose: to give the people of Hopewell an insight into the opinions, activities, and character of the students at Hopewell High School and to give club members first hand experience in the newspaper world. Each of the club members writes one or more articles which are edited and arranged by the editor, who is also a member of the newspaper staff.

Ruth Malamis, the editor of the Press Club, checks over an article to be placed in the high school news page of the local paper.

Week, the Hopewell chapter had complete charge of managing Cavalier Square, a local shopping center, and during the same week were on television shows explaining the purpose and activities of D.E.C.A. Several members played a big part in carrying out the program at a district conference and represented Hopewell High School well.

Each year they entertain their parents with a tea in the clubroom, and furnish refreshments and lunch for the faculty one day during mid-term exams. They give trophies to the Best Tackler and the Best Blocker of the football team each year. VICA's main purpose is to cooperate with all phases of school life and to improve citizenship attitudes among the club members.

What a brighter world it would be if everyone would light just one little candle. In the not too distant future the progress we have made in our school will surely reflect the individual efforts made this year. Our new facilities have eased the development of talent into reality. The usefulness of the air - conditioned band and choir rooms is undeniable, and the addition of a drill corps to the band has been a pleasure for all. Through his activities a student becomes a rounded person, and the flicker of his small light blazes resolutely in recognition of his service.

THE HONOR COUNCIL

The Honor Council was formed this year in order to enforce the newly created Honor System which was voted on and passed by the student body last year. A student elected from each class plus two National Honor Society members serve as the student representatives on the Council.

The duty of the Honor Council is to judge fairly those cases brought before them concerning lying, cheating, or stealing, assign the appropriate punishment, and to instruct the student body on the importance of honor.

It is hoped by the members of the Council, the students, and the faculty that this Council and the Honor Code will instill a sense of school pride into each individual that enters Hopewell High School. It is also hoped that this system will prepare the students for life after they leave the halls of high school to go out into the world. In this way they will be better prepared to cope with life and will be better citizens because of a sense of honor and pride.

Carol, Joyce, Mr. Boyette and the rest of the Council have done much to set up the system so that it can run smoothly in the years to come.

The Student Cooperative Association has had an unusually big job this year since we have progressed to a new school. They have been in charge of all tours given at the school for both students and the city. They also held their annual orientation for new students. The Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter assemblies were given by the S.C.A. Besides working on school problems, the Student Cooperative Association helped in preparing the school for Christmas as they decorated the stairs and put a Christmas tree up in the front hall. One big project of the year was sponsoring the Homecoming Week-end. It consisted of a parade down main street to the stadium and a judging of the participating floats in which the Senior Class won first place. The Homecoming Queen was also crowned at this time. A sock hop followed the game and a Homecoming Dance was held the following Saturday night. State and District Conferences were attended. This has certainly been a busy year for the Student Cooperative Association.

In each society there are those people who are the leaders in their communities and the ones respected by the populus. This section is devoted to the recognition of the student leaders at Hopewell High School and their myriad accomplishments. Moral progress could not be attained if people did not have examples to pattern their lives and set forth future goals by. We must also pay tribute to the followers since they afford others the opportunities which are so vital. Indeed, the whirlwind produced by the combination is the force which carries progress in its wake.

When the editor of each section has finished with his part, the co-editor's job has just begun. She proof-reads each section page by page and makes all the necessary corrections. In the end, the co-editor's are the ones who take the final look and send our yearbook to press.

Jack is an avid class worker. He is president of our Senior class this year and in the past has been the chairman of several projects. As president he, too, must do a lot of "behind the scenes" work. Besides co-ordinating the various committees, he plans the agenda for each meeting and sees that it is carried through.

At the state Future Teachers of America Convention, Cathy Bonner was elected State Secretary-Treasurer.

LaDonna Rasnick was chosen as the DAR Good Citizen of the Year.

Rather than considering this portion of our 1968 Kaleidoscope as the end of our account, we think of it as a beginning. Within the community are found choice examples paralleling the surge of growth we have been experiencing here at Hopewell High. Our new shopping center, Cavalier Square, depicts the swiftness with which we have spread forth into unconquered regions. Without these generous patrons our story of progress in every field would remain a dream, not a reality.

If you want the best of today's leading electrics...

Compare all two!

All two, because there are just two leaders in the electric typewriter field — Royal and the company known by its three initials.

And now Royal, working with Litton Industries, has built the better office electric. You've heard about it—the Royal 660. It's an electric typewriter specifically designed to make your secretary more efficient.

Call us now and compare the 660 with the office electric that used to be best.

We'll show you something better.
